

Sample Speech by Teachers for their Students

"There's no word in the language I revere more than teacher. My heart sings when a kid refers to me as his teacher, and it always has. I've honored myself and the entire family of man by becoming a teacher."

—Pat Conroy, Author

It is said that Teachers have got their designation because of the existence of students, who are taught lessons for life. Welcoming the Principal, my fellow teachers and my dear students. It gives me immense pleasure to thank each and every student present here for putting up such a lovely program. We teachers feel highly privileged to have students like you all, so I would like to dedicate this day to all our students.

Teaching for me is one of those careers, where you learn something new every day as well as impart knowledge and skills to train individuals and make them ready to face the real world.

We really appreciate all the support that you've been giving us over the years and continuously reminding us about the value of our work and our potential to impact your lives for the greater good. In short, your support helps us remain mindful of our ultimate purpose and hold on to the passion that fuels our fire.

This special day reminds me of my own gurus and their impact on my life. I remember one of my teachers telling me this, "Beyond the undone and unseen lies the unachieved." Meaning, to do something that nobody has done or seen and that's when you will achieve what nobody has. To achieve something extraordinary you need to conquer the 3 D's- Desire, Determination and Discipline.

Desire means being passionate about something you love. Determination refers to being dedicated towards something that you are passionate about. Discipline refers to practicing what you are determined about.

As teachers, we strongly believe it is our key responsibility to dig in the foundation to construct pillars of great strength. And I truly appreciate the efforts all the teachers have been putting in so as to achieve this.

Before I sign off for the day I would like to give you all a piece of advice. Each one of you is different, each one of you has a different caliber, challenge yourself and chase your dreams. There will be a time in your life when you might fail, but don't give up. Your success lies without your level of patience. Do great for the society and help everyone possible. Never take your profession on your head because at first, you have to be a good human before becoming a good professional.

Hence, I proudly say teaching for me is sacred and I revere teaching as a profession.
